I also build AI agents and n8n workflows that automate multi-step business processes. I published SmartBundle, my own Shopify app, on the Shopify App Store. - Built web applications end to end: React and Next.js frontends, Node.js and Express APIs, and MongoDB or PostgreSQL data layers.
- Designed REST and GraphQL APIs and integrated third-party services, with attention to authentication, error handling, and clear data contracts between frontend and backend.
- Kept codebases maintainable with typed TypeScript interfaces, reusable components, and a clear split between UI, business logic, and data access.
- Built AI agents and n8n workflows that connect APIs and external services to automate multi-step business processes, and worked with RAG-based AI features.
- Traced production issues across the frontend, API, and database layers to the root cause instead of patching symptoms.
- Deployed applications with Docker and CI/CD pipelines.
- Used AI assistants for technical research, exploring implementation options, troubleshooting, and drafting code, then review and test the output before delivery.
